Building A Wiki PDP

Need a place for students to have a shared, electronic workspace space for a class research project? Do students need to make changes and additions to a group project in process? A wiki may be your answer. You can even use a wiki to post assignments, suggest websites, and attach documents. Participants will have an opportunity to create a wiki from scratch. Depending on your needs and abilities, the site can grow from basic to complex. Come prepared with a project in mind and leave with a wiki ready for class use.

Eligible Audience: Classroom Teachers, Specialists, Library Media Specialists

Teachers, Don't Just Teach It - Inspire with It! PDP

It's not about clicking and dragging!!! It's not about Blogging, Podcasting, Web 2.0'n!!! It's about teaching and learning, or learning and teaching (if you want to be picky). In this "flattening" world, we are required to be more creative, more flexible, more community-based-however, teachers- the world still needs GOOD, empathetic, ingenious educators, a teacher, a Yoda! Yeah, you!!!! The kids, more than ever, need us!!!! Multimedia is a language to our students. If we're smart and ready- we can use it to be very academic and very rigorous (and have fun along the way, too). If we use multimedia right- we can empower in ways that we never imagined. Turn your classroom(s) into a stage, a studio, and into a community and HURRY!!! The kids are waiting for you to catch up!
